And The Trustees aforesaid are hereby empowered and required to make such rules and regulations for the government of the said College, and the ordering of the course of education, to be pursued therein, as they shall judge most conducive to the interests of learning in this State. And the President of the University, for the time being, shall have power to call meetings of the Trustees, as often as he shall think proper, and shall preside at the Meetings of the Trustees, and in his absence the Vice President shall preside.

And The Trustees Academicus shall have power to appoint Visitors of the College, to be chosen out of the Trustees, and to assign to the Visitors such duties as they shall think proper, relative to the inspection of the Academies in the respective Counties, the progress of the Students in Learning, and the state of Literature in those Seminaries, and generally to make such reports to the Trustees, as may be required by the Statutes, Ordinances and Regulations of the said College, in the discretion of the Trustees, and to the Legislature of this State, and perform such other duties as may be enjoined on them by the Statutes, Ordinances and Regulations of the said College, and by the Legislature of this State, and shall have power to remove any of the Visitors from their office, and to appoint others in their room, as they shall think proper. And the President of the University, as often as the office shall become vacant, shall appoint a Visitor in his room, at the next meeting of the Trustees after such vacancy happens.

All public schools, which shall be or be intended to be supported by funds or public money in this State, shall be considered as part and parcel of the University, and under the same visitation and government.

Whatsoever public measures are necessary to be adopted, for accomplishing these and other important purposes, the Trustees shall from time to time propose, and lay before the General Assembly.

All laws and ordinances heretofore passed in any case contrary to the true intent and meaning of these presents, are hereby repealed, and declared to be void and of no effect.

In full testimony and confirmation of this Charter, the Great Seal of the State is hereunto affixed, and the words thereon contained, the Legislature of the State of Georgia, granted to the said Academicus, shall be engraved by the Governor, Joseph Habersham, Esquire, Speaker of the House of Assembly, and Seals to be kept by the Seal of the State, and the same for the time being shall be kept by the Secretary of the State for the time being.

To have and to hold the powers, privileges, and immunities, and all, and singular, the premises hereby given, granted, or mentioned, or intended, or meant, mentioned, or intended to be hereby given to the said Trustees, Visitors, and Trustees, and to their Successors in Office for ever.

Joseph Habersham, Speaker
